

Windows and Desktop

The desktop is the onscreen work area provided by Microsoft Windows, analogous to a physical desktop. It consists of a work area and taskbar. The work area may span multiple monitors. A typical Windows desktop. The active monitor is the monitor where the active program is running.